Dear SUNSHINE Awards Supporter:

I hope that you and your loved ones are healthy and well.

The past few weeks have probably been the most challenging and emotional that any of us can remember. The impact of the coronavirus outbreak has been felt at various levels by individuals and families, companies and communities, across the United States and around the world. This crisis has not only altered the way we live but also revealed that the world is interconnected and getting past it is predicated on how deeply we care for each other.

The response from our political leaders, first responders, family, friends and communities has been remarkable. In fact, it has demonstrated and underscored our determination, resilience and strong desire to return to normalcy as quickly as possible.

I want to convey to you, on behalf of the SUNSHINE Awards Organization and on my own behalf in a very personal way, the heartfelt appreciation of your support of our event through the years. Today much is uncertain, but there is one thing that I know for sure: we are in this together, we will get through it together and we will get past this crisis together. But to get there, we must follow the Public Health Authorities recommendations and the advice from our leaders and experts to practice social distancing, avoid crowds/large gatherings, practice good hand hygiene, and stay at home. If you feel sick call your healthcare provider before going to a doctor's office or emergency room. Keep in mind, following these guidelines will help our healthcare first responders to save lives and some of those maybe our own.

I look forward to your continued support of our very unique and impactful SUNSHINE Awards Program and hope that you and your loved ones will remain safe. In the meantime, let's band together to overcome this challenge as we anticipate returning to the way of life we once knew.

Stay safe and be well

Respectfully,

Gilman T. Figaro, Sr.
